Vital Public Works Board Decision Friday

To Debate Full News Coverage Of Meetings

Gilbert Associates Hired By School Bd.

The Perley F. Gilbert associates, Lowell architectural firm, was awarded the contract for the two elementary school additions by the school committee Tuesday night.

Following brief discussion, member Albert Cole moved that the Gilbert firm be hired for the two jobs. A total of $260,000 was appropriated by the voters at town meeting for additions to the West and Shawsheen schools.

Member Roy Russell suggested that the Gilbert firm might show

A clear-cut decision is expected Friday night by the board of public works regarding coverage of its meetings by representatives of the press.

Although the matter has been debated several times, the board so far has only allowed a reporter to cover sessions devoted to engineering discussions in relation to Rogers brook drainage.

While three members of the board voted to allow free press access to the meetings for that purpose, Friday night's meeting will be devoted to other matters.

Thus, the question of complete, open news coverage of all board meetings will be a logical matter

Ballardvale Church Meeting May 13 On Merger Approval

Final ratification of the union of Ballardvale churches will be voted upon at a meeting May 13 in the Methodist auditorium.

Members of both churches will gather to vote on the by-laws and budget and to nominate officers for the Community church. The Methodist and Congregational churches recently voted to merge into a single church and committees have been preparing the new organization for ratification.

The Rev. Anthony Perrino, pastor of the Community church, has received several messages of congratulations for the merger.

The Rev. Russell B. Richardson, pastor of the Second Congregational church of Attleboro and a former resident, sent his good wishes.

Also congratulating the church-people was the Rev. Robert McCune, former pastor of the Methodist church and now pastor of the Methodist church at Truxton, N.Y.

It has previously been announced that a new pastor will be chosen for the Community church in June. The Rev. Mr. Perrino has been carrying on the duties of pastor under the merger plan.

Town Waits Word From State On Polio Vaccine

Salk polio vaccine will be given to 496 public school pupils of the 517 eligible.

School Nurse Ruth E. Wescott said this week that 21 students returned the parental consent forms with a negative reply, while by far the majority asked that the vaccine be given as soon as it is available.

Private and parochial school children, meanwhile, were also responding to the situation under direction of the board of health. They are returning the parental consent slips without which the vaccine can not be given.

A schedule for the vaccinations will be announced as soon as the vaccine becomes available, according to Board of Health Nurse Lotta M. Johnson. She said the board is waiting for a notice from the state regarding what quantities of the precious vaccine are available and the date they will be received, before specifying the schedule for the mass vaccination.

A check this week in medical circles indicated that none of the Cutter laboratory vaccine had been received here. Actually no one could say definitely that any vaccine from any of the nation's top drug firms had been placed in commercial use in the area.

SHAWSHEEN

SHAWSHEEN'S OLDEST MAN

93 years ago, Robert Taylor was born in Johnston, Scotland but the greater part of his life was spent here in the United States.

In 1885 he decided to come to this country and it was on a very cold Dec. 13, just two years later, that he arrived in Boston. He settled in Andover the following year and at this time sent for his wife and family in Scotland.

He recalls the blizzard of '88, which took place in March. The snowfall was so great that the main streets became tunnels. The snow banks were so high that all that one could see was the tree tops and the blue sky. Blizzard or no blizzard, he walked several miles through the storm to arrive at his work in North Andover where he was employed as a machinist.

Frye village became the family's new home in 1889 and it is here that he has lived for the past 66 years, although it is no longer known as Frye village but Shawsheen.

Mr. Taylor can recall many changes in the village since his arrival. A tenement and the Smith and Dove office stood near where the present police shanty now stands. In those days Poor st. ran into the William Wood estate and was occupied by members of the Frye family. The remains of a dam they built at the right of Hussey's pond can still be seen. The oldest house in the village formerly stood at the rear of the present Aberdeen apartments and was occupied by Theophilus Frye. Mr. Taylor also lived in a house that was situated where the present apartment now stands.

Mr. Taylor's first home in Frye village was on what is now North Main st. and faced William st. The house is no longer there but in its place stands the newly built house of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Tombarrelli.

Mr. Taylor is still active and retains a fine sense of humor. He lives with his son, Thomas Taylor of Lowell st. He has four children living, nine grandchildren, 14 great grandchildren, and two great great grandchildren.

CUB PACK MEETS

Cub pack 71 of Shawsheen met at the Andover Youth center last Friday evening. The theme of the meeting was "Cub Scout Foresters". The boys enjoyed a "Hunt and Find" game where all the hidden articles were derived from wood or wood products. A contest was held to see who could judge the age of a tree by counting the rings. The winners were Peter Bevan and Richard Lacey. David Cardinal, chairman of activities, awarded the boys their prizes.

Charles Galley, Allen O'Reilly and Salvatore Cataudella joined the pack as new cubs and received their bob cat pins.

A webelos ceremony was held for Raymond Collins who is leaving the cub pack and Scout troop 71.

Scouts, Arthur Mueller, George Kawash, and the Takesian brothers, from Lawrence, gave an interesting exhibition of scout craft which included first aid dressings, knot tying, and semaphore. Eagle scout Arthur Mueller also gave an informal talk on the pleasures of Camp Onway.

Awards of advancement were made as follows: Andrew Daly, wolf badge; James Licciardello, wolf badge; James Baxter, gold arrow on wolf; Andrew Innes, two silver arrows on wolf badge; Jackie Tansey, bear badge; Robert Harper, one silver arrow on wolf badge; Timothy Flaherty, gold arrow on lion badge; George Snow, denner stripes.

Mrs. Raymond Beaven, Mrs. Joseph Daly and Mrs. Joseph Tangney were in charge of the program for the evening.

P.T.A. BANQUET

The Shawsheen P.T.A. will hold its annual banquet for parents, teachers, and children on Wednesday, May 11, at the Shawsheen school. The speaker for the evening will be Bernard Kellmurray. Mrs. Richard North is in charge of the program and the sixth grade mothers will be in charge of the tickets. The decorating will be done by the fifth grade mothers.

BOWLING BANQUET

The Shawsheen Village Woman's bowling league will hold its annual banquet and awards night at 7:30 p.m. at the Andover Country Club on Tuesday, May 10.

WOMEN'S CLUB BANQUET

The annual meeting of the Shawsheen Village Women's club was held last Monday night at the Country club.

Following dinner, the following officers were named for the coming year: President, Mrs. William Thompson; first vice president, Mrs. Wallace Fiedler; second vice president, Mrs. John F. Guild; recording secretary, Mrs. Sherman Locke; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George Harper; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Byrne; directors for one year, Mrs. G. Edgar Best and Mrs. Charles Bowman; directors for two years, Mrs. James Baxter and Mrs. I. Malcolm Humphreys.

The evening's speaker was Paul Planchett, a professional makeup artist. After a brief lecture, he made up some of the women in various characters. Those participating included Mrs. Andrew Innes, Chinese girl; Mrs. Weston Eastman, Raggedy Anne; Mrs. Walter Vogt, Cleopatra; Mrs. F. Jerry Leone, Bugs bunny; Mrs. Sherman Locke, Siamese kitten; Mrs. William McCathy, clown; Mrs. William Schmidlin, glamour girl; Mrs. Chester Kopatch, someone's grandmother and Mrs. Norman Miller, elf.

A bouquet of flowers was sent to Mrs. John Franklin, who was unable to attend. Mrs. Edward Carey won the centerpiece and the flower arrangement was awarded to Mrs. Helen Dooley.

PROM HINTS

The Prom is your big night, but even so, it is always better to be early rather than late for an affair. When you arrive late, the boy must introduce his date to the members of the receiving line himself.

The brief dance which is played after the Grand March is not the first dance of the evening but a way of changing from the marching line to dancing. The first and last dance should be done with your partner for the evening.

Miss Frances Collins, Prom faculty chairman, has stated that in the past, the filling out of the dance program before the Prom, adds to the evenings enjoyment. The programs are given to you as you go through the receiving line. If the boy has asked the girl, the dance program is his responsibility; however, if the girl has invited a guest, she should fill out the program.

Another very important item is that you never chew gum while you are dancing.

VISIT HOSPITAL

Thirty-nine senior students of the Problems of Modern Living classes visited the Danvers State hospital last Monday. They were accompanied by their teacher, William J. Igoe.

When they arrived at the hospital, they were divided into two groups so they could tour the buildings. The students saw the various types of mentally ill patients that they had been studying about for the past week. At the different wards the nurses explained the kind of disorder and the treatment that was used. Later the group reassembled in the auditorium and the doctor in charge held a brief clinic session so the students could see first hand the symptoms of each form of the mental diseases.

Those who went on the field trip were Audrey Madden, Franny Louis, Carol Folley, Priscilla Colpitts, Kathy Dineen, Cynthia Dantos, William Keath, Marjorie Davis, Betty Lou Simeone, Carol Sullivan, Marianne Garabedian, Barbara Bobek, Marilyn Carver, Joan Silva, Robert Leete, George Henrick, Marjorie Stewart, Frances Rollins, Roger Johnson, Ernest Clegg, Glenn Peatman, George Heseltine, Marlene Bajak, Valerie Shaw, Eric Burgher, Ruth Santuccio, Myrtie Bell Jacques, Cynthia Lawrence, Cora Pettit, Mary Belka, Allan Zecchini, Allan Wadman, Audrey Smith, Margaret Buckley, Regina Burrows, Lorraine Nadeau, Barry Guertin, Robert Lefebvre, and Allan Vaughan.

Mann's Legacy

The state and nation paused a moment Wednesday to honor the memory of Horace Mann, father of public school education, who was born in Franklin, Massachusetts, on May 4, 1796. It is comforting to know that here in Andover some 159 years after Mann's birth, the town is going ahead with plans for a fine new modern high school as well as additions to a couple of the elementary buildings.

Andover's school program is in keeping with the best traditions of Horace Mann who devoted many years of his life to bettering public education.

Educational opportunities in Horace Mann's day were scarce. He did not attend school more than ten weeks in a year until he was 15 years of age. A teacher who recognized Mann's talents urged him to prepare for college and by intensive study he was able to pass the examinations for Brown University from which he was graduated in 1819 as the top student in his class.

Later he studied law, was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, and won election to the House of Representatives and later to the Senate. During the period of his service there was much agitation for better public school facilities and Mann became a staunch supporter of such legislation. When the first Board of Education was established by law in 1837, Horace Mann was invited to become its first secretary. He accepted the post at a great sacrifice of prestige and salary, but with the knowledge that he would be in a position to carry out the plans he so cherished.

During his eleven years as secretary to the Board of Education, Mann traveled extensively giving lectures, and produced many written articles on the problem. His reports to the Board became valuable documents and had a great influence throughout the nation. When Mann resigned in 1848 to go to Washington as a Congressman he had seen the establishment of three state normal schools, greatly improved school buildings, better teachers and teaching systems, less drastic discipline, more school libraries, improved attendance, better salaries for teachers, larger school appropriations and new courses of study. And the public had been aroused to demand greater educational progress.

Many posthumous honors have been bestowed on Horace Mann, the father of public school education. But were he alive to-day he would no doubt be most satisfied by the continued demand for greater educational standards such as has been displayed in Andover and most other communities in the state and nation. This town's school building program is in itself a tribute to the great humanitarian.

A bad fire in the old Gulliver house, residence of Abbie F. Pease, 193 Main st., threatened the whole three-story building last Sunday. However, firemen managed to confine the wind-driven blaze to an ell and old shed. Six firemen standing on the roof of the shed were dumped into the debris when the timbers gave way, but only two were slightly hurt.

Andover cottage at the academy was badly damaged by fire Monday after 7 p.m. The fire started in rubbish in the basement and spread through two floors of the house.

Some 50 academy boys threw doughnuts, rolls and anything else handy during the traditional May breakfast Tuesday. They retired to the school eventually, where they continued the barrage. They also got hold of some potatoes from a nearby store and threw them as well as pulling the trolley pole off the wires and impeding traffic.

Two liquor licenses were granted last Monday night by selectmen.

FILMS SUGGESTED FOR SCOTTISH GROUPS

One film available at the library for loan to groups early this month should prove very attractive to any who claim Scottish background. It is "The Heart Is Highland", a 20 minute color film. Here are the people and the land of Scotland in the area between Edinburgh and Inverness. New developments in agriculture, industry and transport are seen. The past is symbolized by views of Glamis Castle and a scene from "MacBeth", at the Edinburgh Festival. There is no charge for the film, and the library projector may be borrowed. "The Heart Is Highland" may be reserved for any date from May 9 through May 30.

VITAL MEETING OF PUBLIC WORKS BD.

for debate and decision.

Members Alexander H. Henderson, secretary of the board, and P. Leroy Wilson have objected to the presence of a reporter at meetings. They walked out of a meeting last week when a majority of the board decided that a reporter could listen to and report the engineering details. Previously, Henderson had left a meeting for the same reason.

Chairman Sidney P. White, Allan Flye and Francis Reilly were the three members voting to allow the partial coverage.

"The coming meeting will bring out some facts of interest," Mr. White said this week. He did not wish, however, to prematurely disclose any statement he might wish to make Friday night at the meeting.

He did point out that the board has voted on water extensions, opened bids and awarded contracts while the others are scheduled to be in district court.

"I don't intend to hold back on Rogers brook," White also asserted, "because it's too serious and vital to lose time."

He said he believes the work of the board would not be seriously hampered by the absence of two members during the long discussions with professional engineers over ways to carry out the drainage project.

HENDERSON NON-COMMITTAL

Mr. Henderson, asked how he would vote Friday night on allowing complete coverage by the press, said "It depends on what takes place."

He asserted "It isn't a question of barring reporters, it's a case of personalities."

He again insisted that certain comments of members should not be printed in the newspapers, although the decisions of the board should certainly be recorded.

"I'm there to do a job for the people who elected me," Henderson declared. He indicated a feeling that a certain amount of hindrance has been placed in his way through the news coverage of meetings.

Originally, when the first charges of muzzling the press were made against Henderson, he said he objected to direct quotes being used from debate on issues before the board and "misquotes" in the newspaper.

Artist To Speak At Addison Gallery

Mr. Martin's work will be at the gallery until May 22. He is well known for his national magazine covers. The theme of the current exhibition is "Communication by Design".

Police Capture 5 Lowell Youths

Alert Andover police captured five Lowell teen-agers early last Sunday morning as they allegedly tried to break into a service station.

Patrolmen Alfred Robb and George Porter said the youths, all from Lowell, were being held for court action after being apprehended near Baron's service station at Haggett's pond and Lowell st. They reported that windows were broken in the establishment, allegedly in an attempt to enter.

According to the police report, one youth was found in a nearby swamp; another was reported to be hiding in a ditch and three were in an automobile parked about 100 yards down Haggett's Pond rd.

Mr. Baron said he and his wife, who live across the street, heard the sound of breaking glass and called police.

One of the five, a juvenile, will face a delinquency complaint while the others are scheduled to be in district court.

GARDEN CLUB MEMBERS SUPPLY ARRANGEMENTS TO LIBRARY

This week and next, the members of the Andover Garden Club will keep a series of arrangements on display at the Memorial Hall Library, along with the annual spring exhibit of garden books. The first four, brought in on Monday, have earned enthusiastic comments from library users. All are spring arrangements, using colored foliage, skunk cabbages, juniper, ferns, daffodils and yellow roses. These were the work of Mrs. George West, Mrs. A. Leroy Bolton Jr., and Mrs. Robert Richards, under the direction of Mrs. Jerome Cross. The Garden Club plans to change the flower arrangements every few days, so that there will be something exciting and beautiful to greet book-lovers whenever they come in to look over the garden books.

New and old books, covering all phases of gardens, may be reserved and will go into circulation in a few days.

Punchard Bows, 43-34, In Track Meet

Despite taking five firsts in their initial home track meet Monday, Punchard lost 43-34 to a Wellesley team.

The loss of the relay event made the difference, as a win in that event would have put the Punchard one up on the Wellesley team.

Firsts were recorded by Al Wadman in the 100, Hill in the 880. Al Schwarzenberg in the broad jump, Holt in the high jump and Ernie Clegg in the shot put.

Saturday will mark the next workout for the local team, as they take part in the Gloucester Invitational.

Money Doesn't Grow on Trees, so...

Make paving dollars go further with

CONCRETE

It's your money Mr. Motorist—your gas taxes, license fees and other taxes—that pays for roads and streets. Concrete gives you the biggest pavement value for these dollars. Here's why:

1. Concrete usually costs less to build than other pavements designed for the same traffic.
2. Concrete costs less to maintain.
3. Concrete renders longer service. It has twice the life expectancy of competitive pavements.
4. Concrete's light-colored surface helps you see better at night. If you can't see you can't be safe.
5. Concrete's gritty, skid-resistant surface permits quicker stops, even though it may be raining.

Thousands of miles of concrete pavement more than 25 years old carry much of the heaviest highway traffic and are still good for years. That's the kind of value you get when your tax dollars buy concrete pavement. Ask your public officials to specify low-annual-cost concrete.

The pavement on relocation of Route 28 north from Boston to the New Hampshire line concerns all Massachusetts motorists. After 24 years the original concrete pavement on present 28 still exists for many miles. Concrete pavement on relocated 28 will give you the biggest value for your tax dollar.

Work Progressing On South Church $175,000 Addition

Work is progressing on the extensive, $175,000 addition to the South church.

The Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor, said this week that the excavation is completed for the addition. Workmen have moved into the vestry, where they are to accomplish renovations.

Pointing out that the long stretch of rain had hampered the workmen in their outside activities, the Rev. Mr. Noss said he hopes the entire building will be completed by Oct. 1.

The addition to the present church building involves the construction of new classrooms, a modern kitchen and general purpose rooms, in addition to the work on the present vestry.

A drive was held a year ago to raise the funds, with pledges extending over a three year period. Mr. Noss said the pledges are being collected now, a year later.

Wilkinson; publicity, Mrs. George West; garden club service, Mrs. Phillip Clement.

The meeting heard Mrs. George Taylor of Marblehead speak on the subject "Flower Arrangements in the Home".

Surprise Party For Mrs. Harry Butler

A surprise birthday party was held last Thursday evening for Mrs. Harry Butler, Phillips st., in the home of Mrs. Francis Kennedy, 70 Main st.

She was presented with many gifts. Entertainment during the evening included showing of slides of Newfoundland and local points of interest.

Methuen Beat Punchard, 9-4

The Blue Devils lost their first game of the season Monday, as Methuen's Rangers took a 9-4 game played at Gill Ave. field.

Sloppy Punchard fielding which gave Methuen four unearned runs in the first and a blazing fast ball by pitcher Hank Wainwright were the game's highlights.

Bob Grudzinski was the losing pitcher.

The Methuen win put them in first place in the Merrimack Valley Suburban league with a 3-0 record. Punchard, after that game, had a 2-1 record.

The Methuen Jayvees blanked the Punchard Jayvees in a game the same afternoon, 2-0.

COMMITTEE HIRES GILBERT ARCHITECTS

greater interest in the project because several members of the firm are local residents and taxpayers. Other members, including Secretary William Doherty and Cole agreed that local men might be slightly more interested.

All members of the board agreed that all of the firms interviewed two weeks ago would do a good job.

The committee set a date for next Tuesday evening to confer with the architect on the next step in having the additions built. It was indicated during the interviews two weeks ago that it may take at least nine months for the work to be completed, including the time an architect would need to draw final plans.

Among members of the Gilbert firm who live here are Albert I. Richmond and Frank W. Kiernan. The firm built the junior high school and boiler room and has done other work in the community during the past 50 years.
